HUD funds again possible for city

The City of Canyon will be back in the running for federal community development funds if a bill now pending before Congress is passed.

But, city officials and officials at the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission are unsure how much money will be available if the bill is approved.

Local officials learned this week of the legislation, which passed the House recently, and have received no official word from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development on the program outlined in the bill.

The measure is apparently an attempt by Congress to provide funding for cities like Canyon which were inadvertently left out of a billion-dollar appropriation voted last year for all cities in the states. Canyon, along with other cities in the nation which lie within the standard metropolitan statistical areas of larger cities, were allocated no funds under the community development program, officials learned to their dismay in March.

After five months of planning for expenditure of an anticipated $760,000 in community development funds over the next six years, city officials joined with officials from cities in other parts of the state—particularly Dallas—to protest what HUD officials termed a mathematical error which left them out of the funding.

Local officials had originally planned to upgrade streets and sewer and water facilities in the western portion of the city, to upgrade recreation facilities and to give funds to the Canyon Senior Citizens Association for refurbishing a senior citizen center.

That plan was advanced in January when city officials believed their share of the HUD funding would be about $31,000 for the first year of the six-year program.

However, HUD changed guidelines in February and by late March local officials had come up with a proposal to provide paving of streets only in west Canyon.

Then, though, word came that no funding would be available.

A report from the International City Management Association informed local officials that Congress is working on the bill to provide funding for Canyon and cities like Canyon.

According to the ICMA report, the bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate allocates $54.6 million to cities which lie within the SMSAs of larger cities, cities which did not receive fundin, under the original community development grant program.

"The funds have been earmarked for funding under the community development act of SMSA non-entitlement cities under 50,000 population," the report says. "If passed by the Senate and signed by the President, the appropriation would make funds available to many ICMA members' cities which previously were told that all community development funds have been expended."

Canyon Administrative Assistant Tom Plumlee said he has no other information concerning the legislation.

"It's unclear whether we'd have to redo our grant," he said.

He said he is simply waiting for further word.

George Loudder, former Canyon city manager and now the executive director of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission in Amarillo, said he understands the bill should be passed by the Senate and in the hands of the President by this weekend.

He said it is possible funds will be available two to three months following the passage of the law.

Loudder said he does not know how much money is allocated to Canyon in the legislation, but he speculated that the funding level will probably be about what city officials had originally planned on earlier this year.

Likewise, he said, he doesn't know whether the $54.6 million allocation is only for one year or if it is for the full six years of the program.

A sea of ripening wheat flows around this Canyon youngster as she bounded through what should prove to be bountiful harvest for Randall County farmers this summer. A record wheat crop, surpassing that of 1973, is predicted here.

Rains aid record wheat crop; now hail a primary worry

With just under an inch of moisture from four rains in recent days, Randall County farmers are anticipating an above-average yield on a record number of acres of dryland and irrigated wheat.

While the wheat crop is assured from a moisture standpoint, County Agent John Brazzil says the big fear until mid-June will be the threat of hail.

"We've got the chance to bring in a big crop," Brazzil said, "with probably the largest number of acres we've had planted in the county and with the yield per acre which will be considerably above average."

Brazzil said the wheat crop this year could out-distance the all-time record crop of 1973, when Randall County farmers harvested 140,000 acres of a $12 million wheat crop.

While the 1975 wheat crop may not come up to the per acre yield of the 1973 crop, Brazzil said more than 200,000 acres of wheat have been planted for harvest.

"You can see this is a big increase," he said. "We have probably less yield but considerably more acres."

Only when harvest time arrives will farmers know whether they will make the kind of money they made off the 1973 crop.

In 1973, harvest started with wheat prices standing at about $2.50 per bushel and a considerable amount of that crop was sold at that price although some farmers held their wheat and got prices which ranged to the $5 level by late summer that year.

Wheat prices are fluctuating now, Brazzil said, around the $3 per bushel level.

"What it will be at harvest I'm not able to predict," he said.

The prospect for this year's crop brightened significantly last week and this week as rain-filled clouds soaked the county several times.

Since May 11, the county has received about .93 inches of rain in four separate storms.

Canyon weather station officials listed .08 received on May 11, .45 received on May 13, .11 received on May 17 and .29 received May 18.

However, some areas of the county have received far more than those amounts. Some areas, for example, reported more than an inch of rain from the storm May 18.

Throughout last week and the early part of this week temperatures and other weather conditions have been nearly ideal for the wheat's maturation, Brazzil said.

"They're not large amounts of rain in any one place," he said, "but we feel we're well on the way to making an above-average wheat crop."

Brazzil said the wheat is in the final stages of full maturation and moisture needs will be minimal through harvest.

Harvest, he said, should begin in mid-June.

'Forget new interstate U.S. 60,' locals told on Washington trip

Texas and New Mexico communities — including Canyon — may as well forget about obtaining an interstate highway designation for U.S. 60 which connects Amarillo with Las Cruces, N.M., local officials who travelled to Washington last week were told.

County Commissioner Jim Fletcher told other commissioners and local banker David West told The News this week they were not given any hope that the redesignation for which they have been working for more than two years will ever be a reality.

West, executive vice president of the Frist National Bank here, said following his return from a five-day Washington stay that he believes "it will be a heck of a long time if ever" before U.S. 60, which runs through north Canyon, is redesignated a part of the federal interstate highway system.

He said aides to Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen were not optimistic in their assessment of the attempt to have the highway made a part of the federal system, but were hopeful that a bill now pending in Congress could allow funding to upgrade the highway in New Mexico.

Fletcher told commissioners the federal officials told the delegation from Texas and New Mexico "to forget it," when asked about the possibility of a redesignation.

But, he said, most of those from Texas and New Mexico communities who travelled to Washington for the lobbying tour agree they will be happy if funds can be allocated to build a four-lane highway all the way from Amarillo to Las Cruces, providing a southern route to the West Coast for wintertime drivers.

Barney Wiegand of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce transportation committee said a bill is pending in Congress which would allow the federal government to make highway funds available to states, inlieu of their ability to provide matching funds at the state level, with which to upgrade existing highways.

He said the bill would provide interest-free loans to the states who cannot afford to upgrade the highways themselves.

Wiegand and West agree it is up to New Mexico to pursue the obtaining of such a loan to complete the four-lane portion of U.S 70 (which is U.S. 60 in Texas) to Las Cruces.

"Really it's up to New Mexico to apply for this loan and build their four-lane highway," West said. "Texas has done all it can do."

Wiegand said even though the

WT grads finding good jobs

West Texas State University seniors apparently had no trouble finding jobs as they traded their academic garb for the suit-and-tie uniforms of the working world last weekend.

Placement Director Gene Parker said he's been deluged with job offers from business and industry in the Panhandle area, but has had fewer than a half dozen graduating seniors come by his office to seek aid in finding a job.

True, he said, the job market prospects for elementary school teachers and liberal arts majors is not what it used to be, but he said business and industry is clamoring for managers.

"In the past five or six days I've had 20 calls at least for marketing and/or management people and I probably could place in the Tri-State area 50 secretarial science majors," he said.

The only field in which graduates will have real trouble finding a job is elementary education, Parker said.

But, if elementary education graduates coupled a speciality along with their education degree, they, too, are in great demand, he said.

"If they had an LLD, or speech therapy or special education (certification), well, we had 30 calls for speech therapists so far and we only graduated eight," he said.

Parker's secretary was in the process Monday of typing up a list of job prospects, a list which will cover 10 type-written pages when completed.

The placement director said while liberal arts majors may have a tough time finding jobs in their particular fields of interest, many employers are more than willing to take a liberal arts graduate in a management position.

"If a kid is willing to change fields and get into another area, he'll find jobs," Parker said.

In fact, Parker said, the job market is such in the Panhandle area that relatives of students who studied and received degrees at prestigious and not-so-prestigious schools in the East and Northeast are calling on him to help the students find jobs.

"Some people in Amarillo sent their boy or girl to some college back East and they've gotten their degrees and now they can't find a job," he said.

While Parker helps them, he stresses the job needs of WTSU graduates first.

Parker attributed the abundance of jobs to several factors. One is Amarillo's growth and stability. The other is the good reputation of WTSU graduates, who he characterizes as hard-

Board supports decision on student hair length

Canyon school board members Tuesday night stood behind their high school administration by upholding a decision made earlier this year to omit from the yearbook the picture of a senior whose hair was said to violate the school dress code.

Parents of the student, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Madewell, met with the board to ask that their son's picture be reinstated in the annual publication.

Principal John Sommer, called on by Board Chairman Tom Keeling for a report on how pictures for the annual are measured for suitability, outlined the selection procedure and indicated it is too late to include the picture of David Madewell, 17, in the publication.

He said Assistant Principal W.V. McAlpin determined earlier in the year that Madewell's hair did not meet the school dress code and that his picture would not go into the yearbook, and that young Madewell was informed of this decision.

"The kids pay for this annual and I feel this removes it altogether from the school's discretion to omit his picture in as much as the kids pay for the annual," Madewell told the school board.

The parent said his son claims he was told by McAlpin to get a haircut, but was not informed that his picture would not appear in the yearbook.

McAlpin said he informed the senior that his picture would not be in the book.

Keeling disagreed with Madewell that the school administration should not be involved in the policy of the yearbook.

"We have a school policy made up by the administration and it is common knowledge," Keeling said. "If they don't comply it's at their own risk. What goes in the annual is part of school activities and the school activities have to comply with the hair code."

Keeling said the decision of Sommer and McAlpin would stand.

"I think I have no other alternative but to tell you we approved the policy and we hire the administrators to handle the situation and they've handled it as it is to be handled so we have no alternative but to go along with the administration," he said.

In other business, the school board members were told that reading will be a priority item on the teaching agenda next year in the district's schools.

Mrs. Vondene McGregor, elementary curriculum coordinator, outlined the use to which $7600 in state grant money will be put in providing a

Tax rebate impact is negligible, local business leaders report

The rebate prescribed by Congress earlier this year to help cure what ails the American economy has had little or no impact on the Canyon business community, leaders reported this week.

Doses of $100 to $200 have been served up to hundreds of city tax payers already and hundreds more are due their share of the national panacea, but business leaders are hard put to say what's happening to the rebate money when it gets into local hands.

David West, executive vice president of Canyon First National Bank, said he's noticed absolutely no change in the loan rate for major appliances or new cars since a bulk of rebate checks landed in local mail boxes more than a week ago.

West said he believes the rebate funds deposited in the hands of city taxpayers will not be enough to spur the kind of spending spree Congress is apparently banking on to help revive the stale national economy.

"It's not enough money to be important to people even on social security," he said. "It just serves a psychological function. The sum total may have a good effect on the economy, but it's not going to help this community one bit."

West Texas State Bank President David Levens concurred that the funds per taxpayer have made little dent.

"One hundred dollars apiece doesn't mount up too fast," he said.

A spot check of major appliance dealers in the city indicated the rebate checks sent to locals have apparently not found their way into the business economy yet.

One local merchant said he's not aware of a surge in business since the advent of the rebate and said he's not sure whether the rebates have impacted on his business or not.

Another merchant said business has not seemed to be affected by the rebate checks already received.

Girl Scouts Earn First Class Awards

Four Canyon girls have been awarded Girl Scouting's highest honor with the recent arrival of their pins for First Class Award.

The four are members of Rosaling Johnston's Troop 54 and are at the ninth grade level in Canyon Junior High School. The award is a culmination of three years' work by the scouts which involved six months of study and work on each of four challenges with a minimum of one badge required for each challenge area, according to the leader.

The First Class Award is equivalent to the Eagle Award in Boy Scouting and was received by Claire Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Davis of Amarillo; Paula Johnston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Johnston of Canyon; Diane Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Hudson of White Fence Farms; and Becky Wilberforce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Wilberforce of Rt. 2, Canyon.

County Commission Finds Road Policies Blocked

County commissioners made no headway Monday on two major issues they had initiated the week before—budget belt-tightening and rural road policies.

Commissioners were stymied in the first instance by a conflict in figures presented by County Auditor Betty Hodges and figures compiled by county elected officials themselves.

They were stymied in the second instance by a lack of information from Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod.

Both issues will be on the agenda for next week's meeting.

Elected officials met with commissioners Monday after Commissioner John Fulgenzi during a session on May 12 pointed out that first quarter budget expenditure reports prepared by Mrs. Hodges indicated the county could wind up this fiscal year in the red.

Fulgenzi began Monday's tete-a-tete with county officials by using Mrs. Hodges' figures to illustrate that based on the first quarter spending the county could wind up the year with expenditures running 18 per cent higher than budgeted.

According to Fulgenzi's figures, tax office expenditures for the first three months, if carried at the same rate through the next three quarters, would exceed the budget by 21.4 per cent. On the same basis, he said, the county clerk would exceed his budget by 10.4 per cent; the county judge by 12.8 per cent; the sheriff by 15.6 per cent; the district clerk by 20 per cent; the justice of the peace by 2.6 per cent and 8 per cent; the county auditor by 12.9 per cent; the treasurer by 32.8 per cent; the district attorney by 2.3 per cent; the road and bridge department by 21.9 per cent.

Elected officials Mrs. LaQuitta Polvadore, Sheriff Cliff Longest, Juvenile Probation Officer Harold Mann and others complained that according to their budget figures they were operating within the scoop of their planned expenditures.

Mrs. Hodges admitted the figures she compiled for the commission was "probably very unrealistic for every office."

Fulgenzi asked the elected officials to meet individually with the auditor during the next two weeks to examine their budget figures and the figures she has compiled.

Then, at the court's June 2 meeting the matter will again be discussed.

Sherrod told commissioners he has not yet had time to examine and brief state law concerning the establishment of road paving districts in rural areas.

Commissioners had asked that Sherrod study the law on road districts during their May 12 meeting. Fulgenzi had suggested it might be feasible for the commissioners to require subdivision developers to file a plat of any new subdivision with the understanding on the plat itself that before any improvements would be made on the roads and before the county would assume maintenance of the roads a paving district would be formed to help finance the maintenance and construction costs.

Sherrod will report back at the next commission meeting on his findings.

In other business, commissioners approved the initial step in the grant application procedure to obtain funding for an investigator in the district attorney's office.

Sherrod said he will apply for two years' funding for the investigator's salary and equipment and a partial salary for a secretary.

Fulgenzi and Commissioner Jim Fletcher called for caution in acquiring new county employees under the auspices of federal or state grants, noting that when the grant periods run out on such employees the county will have to put the employees on regular county payrolls.

George Blackwell, local insurance agent who handles the county's insurance, reported to commissioners that a workmen's compensation insurance plan for county elected officials would cost about $1380 per year rather than the $3900 per year he reported during their May 12 meeting.

But, Blackwell said such an insurance program, which provides salary protection as well as major medical care, probably would not have covered an accident of the sort which involved County Clerk LeRoy Hutton, who is still hospitalized in Austin's Brackenridge Hospital after being the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Fulgenzi said if such an accident would not be covered under the policy the policy "would be a waste of money."

Commissioners asked Blackwell to seek a ruling from his company to see how the company would have handled Hutton's accident had he been insured. They took no other action on the insurance program.

Mrs. John Grillo, president of Wives, Etc. of West Texas State University, right, presented Mrs. Charles Smallwood, center, and Mrs. Frank Daugherty, left, co-chairpersons of the WTSU Advisory Council for Campus Enhancement, with a $50 check recently. The funds will be used for the council's evergreen garden which is planned between the WTSU science center and the agriculture-nursing building.

An Abundance of Yellow Flowers A Rarity

As suddenly as they appeared more than a month ago, the small yellow flowers which have covered pasture and range land around Canyon have disappeared this week.

Rivalling the Texas state flower, the Bluebonnet, in color and abundance, the small flowers blanketed right-of-way and rangeland for several weeks this spring in an unusual show of force that many local plant-watchers exclaimed as nearly unique.

County Agent John Brazzil says he can't recall ever seeing the small flowers in such profusion before.

Dr. Larry Higgins, professor of biology at West Texas State University said the flowers are bladder pods, members of the mustard family.

Higgins said the bladder pods come up every spring, but weather conditions must be virtually ideal for them to come up in the numbers seen this year.

"Climate, moisture and temperature have to be just right," he said.

Higgins said the seeds, then, do not germinate every year and it is possible for the seeds to remain viable for between 10 and 15 years before the climatic and weather conditions are right for germination.

The seeds germinate in the fall and flower in the spring. The moisture and climate of last fall, conducive to a healthy growth of wheat, were apparently also conducive to the growth of the flowers.

Memorial Day Services Set

The traditional Memorial Day Services for area residents will be conducted at Dreamland Cemetery on May 26 at 11 a.m. with the memorial message to be delivered by Rev. Jim Hancock, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Canyon.

Color guard for the service will be members of Boy Scout Troop 31 and the playing of taps will be given by John King, a Canyon High School student, on the trumpet.

A tent with some seating will be provided for the annual service and residents in need of transportation may call 655-2111 for this service.

Retiring Teacher Is Honored

Zoe Henry was surprised throughout the day last Wednesday by students of her first grade class at Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Mrs. Henry will be retiring from public school teaching with the close of the current semester. She has taught in the Canyon School System for 19 years and prior to that was a teacher in Happy Schools for seven years.

All but two of Mrs. Henry's 19 years with the Canyon Public Schools have been as a first grade teacher.

Students, parents and fellow teachers showed their appreciation of Mrs. Henry's continuous service on Wednesday as she was presented with a surprise refreshment party by this year's first grade class. She received a potted palm from one of the mothers, a money tree from the students and wore an embroidered denim shirt which was a farewell gift made by Marita Crowder, a classroom mother.

The special shirt, which students had known about since earlier in the week, featured the "ABCs" and an apple for the teacher with lace trimming—and as Mrs. Henry walks away from her classroom duties in retirement she will be remembering the 1974-75 first grade class as all their names are embroidered on the back of the special shirt.

'Texas' Opening To Honor Founders

Two-hundred fifty families who helped start the outdoor production of "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon will be special guests at the opening show for the tenth season.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the show, the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation's board will be honoring those who became interested in the idea of the show and helped before the first fundraising campaign. These early founders will be special guests at the tenth season's opening and will be awarded a special issue 10th anniversary medallion of the show which the Canyon Chamber of Commerce is issuing.

The founders' medals will be of a different metal from those on sale to the public through the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and will have the word "founder" stamped on the vertical side.

"TEXAS" author, Paul Green, became interested in writing the show to show faith in America for this region after receiving a letter from Canyon's Margaret Harper in which she described the Palo Duro Canyon setting and the strong development of arts in this area.

Mr. Green responded that he was interested in the idea and a group of Canyon citizens raised a thousand dollars to bring him to see the Palo Duro Canyon and discuss the possibilities for a show. Those who gave to the fund, before Mr. Green was ever here, form the first group of early founders to be recognized on June 18 at the tenth opening. Most of the founding group attended a barbecue in Canyon on April 27, 1961 to meet the show's ultimate author. They heard his "dreams of the great historical show as he talked about the place and the history of the area" outlined against a huge bonfire of driftwood at the edge of a creek in Cottonwood Grove.

The early donors drew interest from friends and associates around the Panhandle and by January 1962 a development committee had agreed to serve. Lawrence Hagy served as chairman and Wales Madden, Jr. managed the fund raising campaign. Members of the development committee form the second group of early founders and will be honored at the tenth opening of "TEXAS" also. In addition to these two large groups of backers, several who helped with publicity and clerical positions will also be honored.

The "wild dream" of Margaret Harper of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation received backing and support from numerous local citizens and while the outdoor drama and musical score were being prepared the Pioneer Amphitheatre was put in use in 1964 for the production of 'Fandangle'. The following season, 1965, 36,000 persons saw 'Thundering Sounds of the West' at the amphitheatre and when the first season of "TEXAS" had closed in 1966 it had been seen by 61,338 persons.

At the close of the 1974 season well over half a million persons had viewed the show which through the past ten years has garnered national recognition and billing as the "number one attraction" for US citizens as well as numerous foreign countries.

Canyon citizens who promoted the early idea for "TEXAS" by bringing Paul Green here with their collective money were the following: Mrs. Virginia King Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. T.A. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Blasdel, Leta Boswell, Dr. and Mrs. J. Manly Bryan, Mrs. Ray Campbell, Mrs. Dorothy Neblett Carruth, Mr. and Mrs. Levi W. Cole, Dr. and Mrs. H.L. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Cooper, Dr. and Mrs. Larry W. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. James P. SUMMER IS FASTLY gaining on us and soon the kids will be out for vacation. I ran across this cute poem called "Vacation" by Harold A. Wright.

Soon fishing poles

How I miss
Those days of bliss,
That last day of school sensation,

OUR BOY SCOUT Troop 77 held their weekly meeting last Tuesday night May 13th.

They participated in races and had a barrel of fun. In the bicycle race they had two classes, the 10 speeds and the single speed. In the 10 speed Scott Flemmins 1st place, Dusty West 2nd, Marty Hoffman 3rd, and Paul Quall's 4th.

In the single's Ronnie McCarter 1st place, Tod McKee 2nd, Shannon Jones 3rd, and Patrick Shaffer 4th. They ran the singles again and it was Ronnie 1st, Shannon 2nd, Tod 3rd, and Patrick 4th.

Next they ran a footrace, and the leaders participated in it. The winners were Roscoe Shipley, assistant leader, 1st, Dusty West 2nd, James Jones leader, 3rd, and Tracy Walls 4th.

The boys also did the high jump, but just in fun not for competition. It was a real fun night for all.

FELTON AND FAYE Conner and girls went to Lake Meredity on Mothers Day. They had a real nice outing.

SEEMS MRS. RUBY (Granny) Huddleston took a few days off work this past week and took a little trip. She went up in Colorado with a sister and brother-in-law. Also she has now moved into a mobile home here in the park. Glad to have you here with us.

* * *

MRS. LOIS MCCARTER was in Austin, Texas the first of last week to take her test to get her beautician's license.

Came Friday, she was a very happy person, as she received her license in the mail. She will be working in a shop in Amarillo for a while.

* * *

TALKED TO EUNICE Rinehart Monday. She and Barney and their son-in-law, Tom, and grandson, Laine McWilliams, along with Bob, Jo and Brent Rinehart took the boats to Lake Meredith on Sunday and did some fishing.

Eunice said they didn't catch much but did enjoy the outing.

Eunice also told me her grandson, Mike Rinehart, is home for the summer. He is a student at O. U.

JON, DIANA, MARTY and Christy Hoffman and Tod McKee took a picnic and went to Palo Duro Canyon Sunday.

They waded in the creek, climbed the hills and rode the train. They were all tired and blistered, but sure had a good time.

ALBERT RINNE AND a couple of guys he works with, took his boat and went to Lake Meredith Friday evening. They fished most of the night and part of Saturday.

Albert came home about noon Saturday, with a good mess of fish.

CALLED JONNIE ROBERTSON and caught her packing. She, Floyd and boys will be moving this Thursday. We always hate to lose our tennants, but do wish them well. They are going to Pampa, where Floyd will work at the Mental Health, Mental Retardation Center.

* * *

I TALKED TO Linda Shaffer, who said her husband, Kenneth, had gotten the job with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Canadian. He started this past Monday. She said he would be living in the dairy barn on their farm north of Shamrock for a couple of weeks until they can get their mobile home moved.

HAVE A COUPLE of birthdays we want to acknowledge.

First off is Mark Shaffer who celebrated his 8th on Wednesday, May 14th. The Kenneth Shaffers and the James Jones of Siesta, along with Kenneth's sister and family LaVern and Richard Cain and three boys of Amarillo all went to Shakey's for pizza. Afterward they returned to Shaffers for birthday cake.

The second birthday wish goes to Daryl Robertson who celebrated his 8th on Saturday, May 17th with a skating party at his grand dad's rink in Borger. There were 25 kids attended and were served cake and cokes. Daryl is the son of Floyd and Jonnie Robertson.

WE LOST A couple of tennants last week. Charles and Cathy Call moved from 265 Loma Linda to Quanah, Texas. Also Jeff Chase moved from 136 Siesta.

SHARON SHIPLEY CALLED to tell me about an exciting trip, she and her young son, Brent, made.

Roscoe was unable to accompany them, as he had to stay behind and work.

Sharon and Brent left Friday and went to Dodge City, Kansas to attend the Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary Celebration of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Webster. There was a big reception Saturday afternoon May 17th, at which some 250 people from all over were present. Mr. and Mrs. Webster renewed their vows and greeted all guests.

One of the highlights of the day was when the manufacturing company that Mr. Webster founded, made a presentation of a 1975 Buick Electra Limited to Mr. and Mrs. Webster.

On Saturday night there was a family dinner and with 45 to 50 family members present.

Sharon and Brent returned home Sunday afternoon and she said it was a marvelous trip and she would remember it a long time.

I WORKED THREE days last week at the rental office here in the park. Late Wednesday afternoon my mother, Mrs. E. M. Weaver of Lubbock, came up.

Thursday morning mother, DeAnn and myself left for Paris, Texas. At 55 mph it took us about nine hours to drive it.

We visited Warren and Virginia Bills, Geron and Kathryn Crumley, Bryon and Clairbea Richey and others in Paris. Also Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Burton of Brookston, Texas.

Around noon Saturday we left for Oklahoma City. When we got to Shawnee, Okla, I stopped to visit a good friend, Janice Britt, and her family Robin, Angie and Heath. We got to Oklahoma City around 6:30 p.m. and went to see friends.

We spent Saturday night and a good part of Sunday at the home of Mary and Maurice Clark, and family. We got home around 9:30 p.m. Sunday night. Just missed the storm clouds.

Mother left Monday morning to go on to Lubbock. It was a very nice trip and we really did enjoy it.

SEEMS JAMES AND Sharon Jones and family spent this week end in Hereford. They visited Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Newman, Sharon's folks, and Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Jones, James folks.

LEARNED THE SIESTA Bowling team came in 4th in their league. The team consisted of Jonnie Robertson, JoAnn Pingle and Norma Weeter. For the last several weeks, they had had a substitute for Norma Weeter.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. Earl Mosley and Vicki of 232 Loma Linda are very excited this week. Seems a couple of other daughters are home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lobstein and son Charles, who is 14 months old, are here from Brownwood, Texas. They will be here for about a week.

Sp. 4th Class Donna Mosley, who is stationed at Fort Rucker, Alabama is here for a two week visit also. Am sure all of them will have a marvelous visit.

ON MONDAY NIGHT May 19th at 7:30 p.m. the Boy Scout Troop 77 and the Cub Scout Pack 77 had a combined Court of Honor and Pack meeting in the recreation building.

Tracy Walls lead the pledge of allegiance, after which James Jones introduced Roscoe Shipley the new assistant leader. The new scout leaders were announced. Tracy Wall is senior leader and Tod McKee is Patrol leader.

Three boys were presented Tenderfoot badges by Jon Hoffman, they were Forrest Prichett, Paul Qualls and Tracy Walls.

Other scouts attending the meeting were Marty Hoffman, Scott Flemins, Ronnie McCarter, Shannon Jones and Patrick Shaffer.

They held a Knot tying contest, and the square knot tying was won by Forrest, Paul, Shannon and Patrick. The bow line knot tying was a tie. Each team won once.

After this everyone went outside to the basketball court and all the Scouts and other boys and girls who were at the meeting participated in a broomstick race. Everyone had fun.

The Cub Scouts were supposed to have a rocket derby at this time, but due to complications it had to be postponed.

The Boy Scout closing was led by Tracy Walls, after which the Cub Scout closing was lead by Randy Jones. Refreshments were then served. It was a very nice meeting and there was a fair turnout.

Oh yes, the Cubs are in bad need of a Den Mother. Linda Shaffer, who is the Den Mother will be moving around the first of June. Anyone interested, please contact me. We also need a Cub Master.

GUESS IT IS time to put up the pencil for now, so keep on reading.

Thought for this week, "Be sure you watch where you walk, someone may be following in your footsteps."

See ya.

NOTICE OF HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

The Texas Highway Department is planning to proceed with the development of the proposed highway construction of Interstate Highway 27 in Randall and Swisher Counties from 2.5 miles south of the Swisher County line to 13.0 miles south of Amarillo. The proposed improvements will consist of the construction of a controlled access, multi-lane freeway with interchanges at major thoroughfares on a minimum of 400 feet of right of way. The purchase of right of way will result in six families and one business being relocated.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed geometric design, environmental studies and all other available data concerning the development of this project may be inspected and copied at the Resident Engineer's Office on U.S. Highway 60 West of Canyon (P.O. Senior Citizens Plan Fundraising

Canyon Senior Citizens will meet tonight, May 22, for a covered dish supper and to make final plans for a fundraising garage sale to be held in early June.

The group of Senior Citizens will hold the garage sale in the basement of the former Christian Church, 1719 5th Avenue. The facility was recently acquired by the group for its meeting purposes.

Trash Decision Stands

Canyon city commissioners stood by their decision to change the method of trash collection in Hunsley Hills shortly after June 1 during action Tuesday night after the developer of the subdivision protested.

A.W. Lair told commissioners when Hunsley Hills was annexed involuntarily into the city in the mid-1960s the city commission at that time promised restrictions on property would remain undisturbed. One deed restriction, he said, provides that trash will be collected from underground receptacles placed at the back of drive-ways.

Lair said the city commission of today has a moral obligation to abide by the promise of the previous commission by not changing the form of trash collection for those dozen landowners in Hunsley Hills who purchased homes during that era.

The commission decided at its early May meeting to require that trash be placed at curbside in Hunsley Hills for more rapid pick-up by city crews. In the past, according to City Manager Glen Metcalf, crewmen have had to go into backyards and garages to collect trash in the area.

Lair said the commission should continue to pick up trash at the underground receptacles on property which has restrictions which state that trash must be put in those receptacles becuase it has a moral obligation to abide by the agreement made in 1964 by then-city commissioners.

Lair said the credibility of the commission could be damaged if they do not abide by the previous commission's agreement.

Commissioners took no action on Lair's proposal and Metcalf said the trash collection plan will go into effect on June 3 in Hunsley Hills.

In other business Tuesday night, commissioners tabled action on awarding a franchise for a cable television company to be operated in the city.

Metcalf said he has not had enough time to prepare the city's franchise proposal for comparison with two proposals received from Dr. T. Paige Carruth and Hermas Miller, representing one firm, and T.D. Austin representing another.

Commissioner Jim Christopher moved the matter be tabled indefinitely so commissioners could "have the comments of local people who have some expertise" in cable television.

Commissioners agreed to his motion.

The commission delayed a decision, too, on a request from Lair that the city help finance the laying of water lines from the city's pump station to his Hunsley Hills development.

Lair said it would cost about $55,000 to lay line from the pump station south of U.S. 60, under the highway, and to his property line.

He said the water line loop thus provided would benefit other parties in Hunsley Hills and not just himself, because it would improve fire protection facilities for those living in the subdivision.

Commissioners turned the matter over to City Engineer Bill McMorries for a complete cost analysis and study.

A low bid of $3669 was accepted from Stevenson Motor Co. for purchase of a police van unit to be used for investigations and for crime prevention displays. The bid was accepted without air conditioning.

Mrs. Joe Findley of Canyon was appointed to represent the commission on a new library council formed in Amarillo.

Mrs. Marguerite Strain, who has turned 65 years of age, was rehired by the commission for a one-year period. City policy declares that any person over age 65 must be approved for re-employment in one-year increments by the commission.

Baseball Season Gets Underway

By KAROLYN FARMER

BASEBALL SEASON HAS officially begun for Kyle Farmer's 5th and 6th grade "Y" hardball team. Last Saturday the boys played their first game and won 16 to 3 against a team from Whittier School in Amarillo. Assisting with the coaching is Bob Trook, who coached the 6th grade football team last fall.

The team is sponsored this year by A & S Steel Buildings which is located at 5744 Canyon Drive.

Playing on the team are: Mike Bailey, Darryl Bruffett, Scott Davis, Randy Green, Lynn Gregory, Darrell Hawkins, Carl Henry, Dave Lane, Kenny Nagunst, Rusty Riley, Eric Robinson, Jay Tipps, Wayne Wallace and Steve Wilson.

Since I am both the Team Mother and their No. 1 fan, get prepared to hear a lot about baseball in the weeks ahead.

MRS. ELAINE TREW'S 3rd graders were up to their elbows in fingerpaint when I visited them this past Friday As I came in the room, Ronnie Jensen was engrossed in his expressive abstract design. Dawn Davee's painting turned out to be a big purple dog and Stephanie Plank chose to paint a brown horse.

Mrs. Marilyn Noblitt, the student teacher in Mrs. Trew's class, was assisting the children in their fun, but somewhat messy, art project. Friday was Marilyn's last day as a student teacher at Gene Howe. She graduated from WT the next day and hopes to find a teaching position somewhere in the area next fall. She is originally from Hereford and now lives in Canyon with husband Marsh, who is employed as a house painter in Canyon.

The children have been studying animals and I spent a few minutes watching Stephanie Martin working on her Animal Kingdom notebook. Mrs. Trew told me that the class really enjoyed seeing some animal skins and a stuffed procupine that Mrs. Noblitt had brought to school.

On Thursday, May 15, all the 3rd graders had taken a field trip to the museum in Canyon. Tommy Stickrod told me that he liked the stuffed dinosaur best. Lena Pryor told about the pretty rocks that glowed. Glenn Moore and Monty Pritchett both agreed that the Cowboy Town was the best part of the tour.

One of the bulletin boards in the room is especially eye-catching. It says "Let's Take a Trip Through the Solar System." In one corner a smiling astronaut is sitting on the moon, while the Second Grade Solar Spaceship makes its way across the skies among the planets.

Don Meier showed me the cast on his right arm and told me that he broke his arm three weeks ago swinging on a rope.

Frank Robinson and Dana Bannister were the good citizens for the week.

I was most impressed with the organization in the classroom. At one time there were children in the reading circle, at the listening table, working on notebooks, finger painting and washing up at the sink. Getting 29 children to go in five different directions can't be an easy job, but Mrs. Trew and Mrs. Noblitt were handling it beautifully.

THE FIRST ORDER for the windbreaker jackets with our school name and emblem has been sent in and there were over 100 jackets ordered. However, if you would like to place an order now for a jacket, please contact Sarah Edwards at 352-3136.

The blue and gold jackets will be delivered to the school next September and no payment will be made on them until then. They are guaranteed against defects and are perfect for our "in-between" Panhandle weather.

Also the Gene Howe PTA is not offering the jackets as a money-making project, but as a service to the students and as a school spirit project.

ANOTHER ONE OF the student teachers at Gene Howe has been Pam Boatright, who has been working in Mrs. Mary Jo Smith's 5th grade room. Pam and her husband Bill now live at Siesta Park. Bill is an accountant in Amarillo. Pam graduated from WT on Saturday and hopefully will be teaching in this area next fall.

THE 6TH GRADE band and choral students will present a program to the Gene Howe student body on Friday, May 30th at 10:15. Parents are also invited to come hear the great music and cheer for our 6th graders on their last day at Gene Howe. (I have a feeling that there may be a few tears along with the cheers.)

ANOTHER ONE OF the student teachers who have been serving at Gene Howe is Rojanna Taylor, whose husband Johnny has an interesting new business. Johnny's new enterprise is called "Glider's Roost" and he is now selling hang gliders in Canyon.

If you're interested in this exciting and relatively new sport, you can call Johnny at 655-9439. He also gives lessons on how to fly the gliders.

THE GENE HOWE PTA Board and Committee members had a covered dish luncheon on Friday, May 9th at the home of Raydell Palmer.

Raydell was, as always, the perfect hostess. The food was delicious (and I should know since I "forced" myself to try everything). I will admit that I was embarrassed when Mr. Lawless took a whole chocolate pie for dessert, but then he is the principal so I didn't say anything.

The board members presented Mr. Lawless with a hanging plant for his office in gratitude for all his help this past year. (And please don't look for a hidden meaning in there).

Ernestine Harp received a plaque painted by our resident artist, Troyce Mulherin, and a painted rock from Phyllis Hicks, our incoming resident artist.

Ernestine gave each of the women present an individual plant as a token of her appreciation. (Mine has already died, but I refuse to take that personally).

No fooling though, we really do have a lot of super fine people at Gene Howe and it's both fun and rewarding to be a part of our great school and community.

Those present for the food and fun were: Luther Lawless, Brenda Lawless, VonDean McGregor, Gay Cochran, Ernestine Harp, Troyce Mulherin, Sarah Edwards, Sandra Wait, Gwyn Sellers, Glenna Schmidt, Linda Ford, Phyllis Hicks, Jackie Jobe, Melba Thompson, Darlene Campbell, Karolyn Farmer, Raydell Palmer and Raydell's mother, Mrs. Jewel Wakefield.

reading improvement program in the elementary grades. She also outlined the Right-to-Read program which will get underway here next year to emphasize reading in all grade levels.

"There's nothing wrong with what our records show in reading so far," she said, "but we feel like we can do more."

The grant funds to be received for the elementary program will stress improved instruction for all students in reading.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs said the school district has also received a grant of about $12,000 to provide increased community education offerings through the high school.

He said tentative plans call for hiring of a part-time community education director.

A second year of funding, he said, has been allocated for a junior high level math program which is being altered for more individualized instruction.

Board members accepted from Garre LaGrone, representing the current senior class at CHS, the class gift — a $3200 video tape system for use in the school.

Jacobs outlined for the board the recent school finance legislation passed by the Texas House and sent to the Senate for further action.

The superintendent said the bill produced in the House is the one which would be most favorable for the Canyon district.

The board agreed to begin meeting twice each month, with the first meeting of each month to be devoted to work on future expansion of the district's physical facilities.

They also voted to approve an amended 1974-75 budget to reflect a $103,000 state check for emergency funding.

The board voted to continue the district's participation in the federal school lunch commodity program.

Following the regular board session, the members went behind closed doors to discuss personnel.

workers.

Starting salaries for WTSU graduates is nothing to sniff at either, Parker reports.

Salaries for graduates who enter jobs other than in the teaching profession range, he said, from a low of about $750 per month to a high of about $1100 per month. The average is between $850 and $975.

Recent national and state-wide news reports on the success of college graduates in the job market indicated bleak findings.

One report, prepared in Dallas by the Associated Press, and published recently by the Amarillo news media, suggested that the job market is slim for 1975 grads. Particularly cited as in job trouble by the AP article were white males.

Parker reported no such problem here.

"I wish I had a few white males," he said. "They could sure have the jobs."

various civic leaders from communities in the two states went to Washington to work for approval of a redesignation for the highway, he feels the trip accomplished something in finding out about the loan program.

Canyon and Randall County officials, particularly West, Chamber of Commerce Manager Roland Black, County Commissioner Paul Lindsey and Couty Judge Woody Pond, have been active in working with leaders from New Mexico and Texas cities in seeking the redesignation of the highway.

More than a half dozen meetings have been held in the past two years in Hereford and Eastern New Mexico to discuss the redesignation effort.

The communities' leaders worked last summer with the Texas and New Mexico Highway Departments in compiling information to indicate the redesignation is not only feasible but needed.

The highway department studies were submitted to the federal Department of Transportation in December and the department recommended to Congress that no new interstate highways be designated.

The trip last week was in response to that recommendation.

TEXAS TALK

By Tom Lytle

The worst is over . . . probably. Statements like this have become the most common hedge in the cattle industry in the past few weeks as top executives of the beef business find reason to be cautiously optimistic in the face of rising per capita consumption and a decrease in the industry's number one problem, glut. Caused by a combination of price controls, natural cattle cycle (cattle population reaches a cyclical peak every 10-11 years) and high feed prices, glut (oversupply) seemed for a while to be unending. Consumers are solving the problem by buying more beef and accepting grass-fed meat. Packers buying grass-fed cattle have to use 2 or 3 of the young pasture-fed cattle to produce as much meat as a single grain-fed animal. So the problem seems to be solving itself, but even the optimistic cattlemen (not the easiest thing to find) say it will take at least 18 months before the industry is back to normal.

CHS Students Become Historians

Ninety eight students at Canyon High School can be given the title of historian because of recent history projects they have completed.

Mrs. Sophia Duman, a student teacher for Glen Hughes' four history classes at CHS, assigned the students a family history project.

According to Mrs. Duman, a family history is more than a family tree of names and dates but should answer the question: What is there in your own history that has brought you to your present position?

Mrs. Duman's reasons for assigning the family project were to give the students an idea of what it is like being an historian and to show that everyday people are important "although their history isn't in the Congressional Record."

"History is made up of small everyday things in life that give depth and character to history," she said. "History texts give slanted views because everyday people aren't really investigated," Mrs. Duman added.

Some of the questions answered by the students in their historical accounts were: How did both of your grandparents meet and how was the marriage decided upon? Where were the houses they lived in and what were they like? How was sleeping, working and living space arranged? How crowded was the household?

"What was the impact of the depression and the dust bowl?" This was a broad question Mrs. Duman suggested the students research. Was the head of the household unemployed at this time? Were there changes in occupations? Was the family deprived of any essentials such as food, clothing and health care? What was the general impact of the depression upon careers or educational planning of family members? Did population in your family's community decline during the depression?

Other suggested questions were: Did the family consider itself poor, average, well-off or rich? What were some of the major expenditures?

What part did religion play in family life? Was church attendance easy or difficult? Were all members of the family of the same denomination?

When was the first radio, television, automobile, tractor, etc. purchased?

What was the neighborhood like? What were the major community events? What kind of amusements and sports were there?

When the project was assigned, Mrs. Duman stressed the respect of family privacy. What went into the family history was left up to the discretion of the student and his sources, his family relatives.

One of the interesting findings of a student was the discovery of being a descendent of an Hawaiian princess.

To the surprise of another student, her family history was traced back to Martha Washington, George's wife.

There are also other presidential descendents in Canyon because one student found he was in the same family as President Buchanan.

One of Mrs. Duman's students commented in the Canyon High School newspaper that "knowing about the heritage of my family has enlightened me to the personalities of relatives that at one time were only names."

Animal trapping was only part of the curriculum recently as 50 Amarillo elementary school students came to the High Plains Baptist Assembly grounds north of Canyon for a three-day pilot outdoor education program. Ronnie Wright, a West Texas State University student, explains trapping to three youngsters. WTSU recreation majors offered various courses for the students.

Fashions Highlight Study Club Session

Canyon Study Club ended the 1974-75 clubyear with a salad supper Tuesday evening, May 20, at the community rooms of the First National Bank.

New club officers were installed by Harriet Brandon, district junior director, including Judy Becknell, president; Shirley Slack, vice president; Mattie Wall, secretary; Kathy Kendrick, treasurer; Patricia Magness, reporter-historian; Sheila Burkett, program chairman; Sandra McRoberts, ways and means chairman; and yearbook co-chairmen; Johnie Raymond and LaDonna Blewett.

The meeting also included a federation report by past district president; Jo Carol Lindsey, and the club voted to change its status from a junior federated club to a general club in the Top of Texas District.

Highlight of the meeting was a fine arts report on the "Development of American Fashion" presented by Kaye Henderson which included fashions from an 1880 wedding dress through modern attire of 1975.

The club's retiring president, Mrs. Don Dolle, was presented with a past president's pin at the meeting and a new member, Andrea Metcalf, was elected by the group.

Royce Holloday, the club's scholarship recipient, was present for the meeting and other guests included Theresa Lewis, Alice Bridle, Pat Zello, Emily Roland, Cathy Edwards, and Mary Jane Townsend.

Sixteen club members were present for the evening. Cohostesses were Lila Vars, Johny Raymond and Shirley Slack.

WEDDING DRESS FROM 1880 was modelled by eleven year old Markaye Henderson at the end of spring meeting for Canyon Study Club Tuesday evening, May 20. The wedding dress features embossed buttons, velvet brocade insert and is a skirt and jacket with a bustle effect in back and a hemline edged with ruffle pleats. The dress was an original worn by the great grandmother of Alice Bridle and was among fashions shown in a revue covering 1880-1975 attire directed by fine arts chairman, Mrs. Durwood Henderson.

Art Club Hears Program On Framing

Palo Duro Art Club met in Canyon at the Community Center Friday, May 16, with Mrs. Charles Donnell as hostess.

Mrs. Jack Jennings gave a program on matting and framing pictures. She suggested the frames should be matted and finished to correspond with the picture subject. She also suggested that each one get out their old keepsakes, antiques ect. and frame them. She had several framed pictures on display.

Mrs. Lewis Morrison, president, conducted the business meeting after lunch. Plans were made for the June 20th meeting which will be in Hereford with Mrs. A.G. May and Mrs. Sam Morgan as hostesses.

Bridal Event Honors Couple

The forthcoming marriage of Miss Alisha Nelson and Jamie Martin was recognized with wedding gifts for the couple Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elton Cox, 1411 Creekmere.

Receiving the guests with Mrs. Cox and Miss Nelson were Mrs. Vaughn Nelson, mother of the bride-elect, and Korkye Martin, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Guests were registered by Miss Lynn Davis and serving at the refreshment table was Miss Jan Kruse. Laid with an imported Venetian altar cloth embroidered with daisies, the table featured a floral centerpiece of white daisies and miniature pink carnations with crystal appointments. A pink raspberry punch and cookies were served.

Co-hostesses were Mesdames Robert Burton, John Childs, Jim Davis, Walter Cranmer, Thomas Cannon, Ada Crager, Edith Priddy, Horace Bailey, J. Pat Stephens and Gene Read.

Fine Arts Club Plans Next Year

Canyon Fine Arts Club met Monday evening, May 19, at the home of Sybil Youngblood for a salad supper which concluded the current club season's activities for the group.

About 18 members were present to answer roll call with their "favorite childhood movie stars" and discuss the club's current project of making a wall hanging to decorate the new Canyon City Library when the facility is completed. The wall hanging is being designed and prepared by the club to depict the development of the area through decorative stitches, apliiwaes and needlepoint.

The club plans to follow a Bi-Centennial study theme next season.

Happy News

New Scoreboard A Reality

By MARY NEAL HENRY

RAIN IS THE big news of the week and most of it fell very nicely.

High winds did damage property for some and one tornado was actually sited between Happy and Wayside. (Must have been northwest of me, but I didn't know anything about it until the next day).

Wyatt Heisler had a tree broken and blown over that measured about ten inches in diameter.

TWO LEGISLATIVE ITEMS that might interest you are the raising of the inheritance allowance from $60,000 to $200,000. You may wish to write your congressman on the issue. If this should be adopted, you would be exempt from paying an inheritance tax on the first $200,000 inheritance instead of only $60,000 now allowed.

In Texas, Senate Bill 837 would allow a local option election on pari-mutual betting in cities over 180,000. Think carefully on this one. One such vice only paves the way for future ills.

HAPPY WILL HAVE their annual Rabies Clinic this Saturday at the Fire Station. Pets will be vaccinated for $5 by Dr. Markham from 2 to 5.

THE NEXT TIME someone says to me "agile as a cat" or "graceful as a kitten," pardon my snicker. Picture mentally, if you can, our one year old cat prancing around me to be petted so precise that she fell flat on her side in the irrigation ditch in the garden. And was she muddy!

She got up and took about two licks to clean herself and then just sat there indignantly while I laughed at her.

Her pride was wounded and it was two days before she got all that mud off. Cats don't always land on their feet as I've been told.

SEE YOU IN the Grade School Awards Assembly.

As an area representative, Jennings' responsibility covers 45 counties.

To be certified, Texas volunteer firemen are required to have completed 152 hours of guideline training in all aspects of firefighting or have at least five years prior service before Jan. 1, 1975.

Under the qualifications of the program, 24 members of the Canyon Fire Department will receive certification.

Gowens is one of 40 selected to attend the sessions sponsored by GE and the University of Chicago School of Business from Aug. 3 through 27. The grant is in addition to his travel and room expenses.

The purpose of the program is to provide an opportunity for faculty members of colleges and universities which do not offer doctorates in economics to examine important recent developments in the economics of information and uncertainty, applications of econometrics to economic history, monetary and cycle theory, and policy and the economics of regulation.

Students will be able to work with actual field crews at locations around the Panhandle, usually within 100 miles of Canyon, Dr. Hughes explained. Excavations and surveys will be conducted by professional archeological crews. Several crews will be composed of volunteer and student help. Students can expect to work sites near Quitaque, Lake Theo and Quanah.

A field manual will be used for instruction, but the actual participation will be in the field. Some students may camp near the excavation site.

Usually taught in the fall, the course will be offered during both summer terms, June 3 through July 11 and July 15 through Aug. 15. The three-hour course may be repeated for an additional three hours.
